The investigation of the purchase of a site in linton Township for a disinfecting station was resumed by the special committee of the Newark Common Council yesterday afternoon. Two statesents made respectively by Mrs. Ida Crow, the former owner of the property, and George W. Stephens, her lawyer, both taken by members of the committee in New-York on Saturday, were sub-itted in evidence. Mrs. Crow said that she had received $10,000 for e property, less $200 paid to her lawyer for his services. The first witness called was Councilman Stainsby, of the Committee on Public Buildings. He remem-bered the meeting in August, 1894, at which the subject of the new disinfecting station was brought up. At the meeting on August 31, 1894, the Board of Health appeared before the Committee on Public Buildings and said that the site in Grovest, had been accepted, and asked that the ground On the recommendation of the Board of Health, the Council committee ordered the purchase. Mr. Stainsby was excused after say-ing that, to the best of his knowledge, none of the members of the committee had visited the prop-

He produced a transcript of the books of the bank, showing the debits and credits in Tichenor's account from uly 1, 1894, to the present time. The bank did not have the vouchers, and the witness was unable to recall the names of persons to whom checks were I see on September 10 that there is a credit of

The returned checks from the City Treasurer's office were shown to the witness. He identified the $500 check as having been cashed, the only reason being that the check did not appear on the books of the bank.

The next witness was John S. Schafer, at one time City Surveyor.
"Did you have information from a Mr. Gardner that he knew of crooked practices in regard to the purchase of any land?" asked City Counsel Riker. Of this purchase of land?" inquired the witness,

"Yes," responded Mr. Riker.
"No," replied Mr. Schafer.

"Or any other?" was Mr. Riker's next question.
"No." answered Schafer. What did you say in an interview in a newspaper?" inquired Mr. Riker. I don't know what I did say."

"Were you correctly reported?" asked the city

"I believe I was." Then you don't know anything about the matter?" inquired Mr. Riker. 'No. All I do know is that if the city officials had dusted around they could have gotten the land much cheaper. Mr. Gardner, the man referred to by the previous witness, was then called, crookedness in the matter?"

A. H. Scholtz, a Newark saloonkeeper, was called and asked if he remembered being in G. W. Tichenor's office when a new-spaper man was inquiring for him. He replied that he did. 'Did you ever carry a note to him in reference to this city matter?"

"Do you remember meeting Mr. Farrell in the Clinton Building on October 12" asked Mr. Riker. The witness's memory on the subject was bad, and to every query he answered that he "didn't remember." His replies were evasive, especially in regard to meeting Mr. Farrell, the newspaper man who inspired the investigation. When finally pinned down, however, Scholtz remembered having inquired for Tichenor on October 12, but he could not say what his business with the latter was. When was the last time you spoke or wrote to Mr. Tichenor about the Grove-st. property?" asked Chairman Ogden.

"I never spoke to him about it," the witness re-"What was your conversation with him when he came in that day?" "I couldn't say."

"Didn't Mr. T.chenor ever tell you that he had made a good sale to the city?"

City Auditor Runyon, the next witness, was

'In September, 1894, some warrants were issued to G. W. Tichenor?" A warrant," was the correction made by the Auditor, who opened his books and found an entry on September 10 recording the payment of $15,000 to Mr. Tichenor for land for the hospital.

Mr. Runyon explained the manner in which checks are given in payment of bills by the city officials. In order, he said, that there might be no delay in the settlement of large claims the Treasdrew checks sometimes several days ahead of the date of the warrant. In this particular case the check was made on September 8, and was de-livered when the warrant was issued, two days

"Then there may be a difference of several days between checks and warrants" asked the chairman of the committee as was Mr. Runyon's answer.

"Yes," was Mr. Runyon's answer.

"Well, that's something that ought to be corrected." was Mr. Ogden's comment.

P. J. Nulty, a clerk in the office of the treasurer: ex-City Clerk O'Connor and City Treasurer Wilson all gave important testimony.

On request of Mr. Riker the checks and warrant used in the transaction were marked as exhibits in the investigation and filed as such.

William A. Ward, a real estate dealer, testified that he had been requested by the Board of Health to look for sites for the disinfecting station. He was not confined to any particular locality. One tract that he offered the city was thirteen acres in Grove-st. at $1.000 an acre. He also offered two other sites, the same price being asked. Both are near the site that was finally obtained. One of them was a part of the Gross estate, the other property belonging to August Dessing, and the two tracts amounted to about nine acres. In his opinion the property purchased by the city was worth about $100 or 800 an acre.

Mr. Gardner was recalled and testified that he had known that property adjoining the tract in Grovest, was offered for sale at $1.000 an acre.

George W. Tichenor was again placed on the stand, and Mr. Riker asked him to produce his contract with Mr. Stevens for the sale of the land.

"I haven't got t," replied Mr. Tichenor." I have looked all over for it, and it seems to be lost."

All of Mr. Tichenor's checks covering several years were introduced in evidence, and the members of the committee ran through them in search of one that would throw some light on the matter. Meanwhile Mr. Riker took the witness in hand and asked him to look in his pass book and see how much he deposited on September 16.

Mr. Tichenor gisned at the page, and replied that he had put $14,500 in bank. He had previously testified that the deposit was $15,000. He did not remember the circumstances, and had no recolle

ACCUSED OF STEALING A DOG-THEY SAY IT WAS A JOKE.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 18 (Special).-Councilman Silas Betts, of Stockton, appeared before Justice Cassady, in this city, to-day and swore out warrants for the arrest of Chief of Police John C Zane, Samuel Collins, the town failer, August Muench, a sathe larceny of a hound valued at $50, which the defendants are alleged to have taken and used for gunning season. The accused men say they took the dog as a joke. Mr. Betts replies that he cannot see the matter in that light, as the dog was taken from his stable, the doors of which were locked. Mr. Betts says he was preparing for a gunning trip. Within thirty minutes after he had locked the dog in his stable it was taken by the men, who kept it all night and used it the next day, and on their return left the dog in the streets. The disappointed Councilman was compelied to go on his gunning trip without his favorite hound. Collins, Hoff and Muench entered bail before Justice Cassady for their appearance in court, but Chief of Police Zane has not yet appeared. gunning season. The accused men say they took

HOW AN EAST ORANGE MAN SAVED A CHOKING ANIMAL'S LIFE.

Isaac Johnson, of East Orange, is the hero of the hour there for the ingenious way in which he saved the life of a cow belonging to James Barradale, of Elimwood-ave., East Orange, on Sunday. While eating turnips the animal got a whole one lodged tried vainly to dislodge the turnip. Mr. Johnson came along and a bright idea struck him. He took the garden hose, attached it to the hydrant, and turning on the water at full head, put the nozzle into the cow's throat. In a second or two the turnip was dislodged and the trouble was ended.

THOMPSON OWNS THE FISHERY.

Trenton, Nov. 18.-The contest between Frank Fath and ex-Assemblyman William J. The rights involved are said to be highly valuable.

BARNES'S CRIMINAL TRIAL POSTPONED. Trenton, Nov. 18.-The trial of John A. Barnes, formerly manager of the Eastern Rubber Company. for the alleged larceny of $7,000 of the company's stock, was announced in the Mercer County Court to-day as off for the term. Barnes was indicted at the instigation of Frank A. Magowan, principal owner of the factory. Barnes is suing Magowan, principal over 5100,000 for the allenation of the affections of Mrs. Barnes, and the ownership of the stock being involved in the issue of the case. Prosecutor Stockton considers it best to await developments and not prefudice either side by the criminal trial.

There was a slight fog at the time, but the main trouble is believed to be that the lights were cor fused and that Tucker light was mistaken for Barnegat, and the ship headed in a couple of points, when as a matter of fact she had been heading properly before the turn. The lights are totally different, but in thick weather only a careful watch will not make a mistake. Barnegat shows white flashes while Tucker shows white fixed for sixty sconds and then red for six flashes at ten second intervals. The red is pronounced in clear weather, but a careless outlook might mistake them in forgy weather.

The steamer sent out no signals of distress until after she had been sighted. Two patrolmen, from Long Beach and the other from Ship Bottom Station, saw her about the same time. They fired their danger signals, and tried to signal the steamer to keep off, but she grounded in a few seconds, and both men started for their home stations to give both men started for their home started to the alarm.

The two stations were about two miles from where the steamer grounded. The lifeboats were got out at once, and both crews reached the point nearest the stranded steamer, at about the same time. As the sea was perfectly colm and there was no danger, the crews launched both boats and put off to the steamer. Captain Millington told the life-savers there was no need of their aid just then. He sent a telegram to the agents of the steamer in New-York, asking aid. Later the Merritt arrived and made an attempt to drag the steamer off. This failed, and the steamer was secured, and all hands rested for the night tide.

At the office of the Norton Line, Wall and Water it was said that the Manitoba carried a crew of thirty hands all told. Her cargo consisted o of thirty mains an one. Her cases consisted of coffee, hides and wool, and was valued at over $300,000. The steamship went aground at high tide, which was unfortunate, and difficulty may be experienced in getting her off. She carried no passengers. Mr. Norton hoped that she might be got off at high tide last night, but if she did not, he feared she would be ashore for some time.

Point Pleasant, N. J., Nov. 18.—This quiet sea-coast town has been saved the disgrace of a public lynching by the merest chance. The excitement has been intense since the arrest of Rellly Johnson, a wealthy man, last Friday night for an alleged as sault upon a ten-year-old girl. Angry crowds of men and women gathered in knots on the corners and discussed the advisability of summary action. Much of the indignation was due to the action of Justice Allen in admitting Johnson to bail. Mayor Van Notes sent a message to Prosecutor of the Pleas Thomas H. Middleton and Sheriff Chambers, of Thomas River, which brought these officials into town about 19 o'clock Saturday night. At the moment of their arrival Johnson was safely hidden in the Justice's home, opposite his office, while a crowd of 1,000 men, women and children filled the lawn. The arrival of the officers of the law had a quieting effect upon the crowd, and meanwhile Johnson was

JERSEY CITY.

John Shields, eighty-two years old, died at his home, No. 310 Varick-st., on Sunday night, from a ation of diseases. Mr. Shields was born in New-York City on March 30, 1814. His parents re moved to Jersey City when he was eight years old. In early life he engaged in the iron trade in New-York, but still retained his home in Jersey City. In 1847 he retired from the business and devoted himself to the development of property that he had bought in New-Jersey. In 1838 he married Miss Jane Crane, who survives him. They had three daughters and two sons, who are living.

Joseph B. Eltringham, sixty-three years old, died at his home, No. 9, Vroom-st., yesterday, from blood poisoning, the result of wounds received in the Civil War. Mr. Eltringham was born in Jersey City. He was one of the first to volunteer and enlisted on August 19, 1861. He was appointed second-Heutenant, but was severely wounded in one of the first engagements in which he took part, and was compelled to resign on September 9, 1862. For twenty-two years he had been under-keeper in the Hudson County Penitentiary, his efficient services insuring his retention under all changes of management. He leaves three daughters.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the County Clerk's office, of Hudson County, yesterday by the Gifford Land Company. The capital stock is $180,000, in 1,800 shares. The corporators are Charles B. Hughes, Jr., and John J. Mulvaney, of Jersey City, and Augustus C. Keilogg, of Elizabeth.

NEW-BRUNSWICK.

Theodore Strong, counsel of the Middletown county Board of Freeholders, has filed notice with the County Clerk of an appeal to the Circuit Court from the award of the commissioners who con-demned the three miles of the New-Brunswick and Cranbury turnpike. The ground for the appeal is that the award is excessive. The commissioners who made the award at the instigation of propertyowners along the route were P. Hampton Wickoff, John G. Schenck and T. Forman Taylor. They fixed the damage to the turnpike company at $800. Mr. Strong says that he will also take the matter to the Supreme Court on certiforari to test the constitutionality of the proceedings by which it was hoped to force the county to take the road.

FIGHTING THE PENNSYLVANIA ROAD.

BURLINGTON PEOPLE TRYING TO PREVENT THE LAYING OF ANOTHER TRACK IN THEIR MAIN STREET.

Burlington, N. J., Nov. 18 - A small army of men in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad began building another track through Broad-st. in this city to-day. For some time the railroad company and the city have been at loggerheads, and the Council at its last session indefinitely postponed action on the privilege asked for by the company The thoroughfare through which the company wants to lay another track is the main street of the town, and has been occupied by a single track for a number of years. The action taken this for a number of years. The action taken this morning is to bring the matter to an issue, the company contending that its charter and contracts with the city give it the privilege of as many tracks as it chooses to lay.

When operations were begun a delegation of the property-holders along the line waited on Mayor Woo.man and requested him to stop the building, but he refused, saying that the company was breaking no city ordinance and he was powerless to act. William Atkins, a property-owner, hitched up his team and drove to a point along the line and took his stand there. When the workmen reached this point they simply went around the team, leaving Atkins in possession of the ground.

This evening the workmen had completed about two hundred feet of the road proper. The Common Council was convened in extraordinary session in the afternoon, and, by resolution, instructed City Solicitor Flanders to secure an injunction against further operations. The property-owners along the proposed route have also secured counsel in the presson of ex-Judge Westcott, of Camden, and the two sentiemen will endeavor to secure an injunction by to-morrow evening.

POSTERS EXCITE PARK RIDGE.

PROHIBITIONIST MAKES CHARGES AGAINST MANY LEADING CITIZENS.

Park Ridge is stirred up over a lot of circulars posted upon the recently erected lampposts. The circulars read thus: Politics and religion make us acquainted with strange bedfellows.

Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth the bottle to him and maketh him Irunken.
The undersigned Freeholders and non-Freeholder
Signed for Mr. Ackerman's Hot Hell License for Park Ridge, Bergen County, N. J., December, 184. Then follow about thirty names of well-known residents and prominent church members of the town. The poster continues:

In looking over the above list you will be convinced that some signed lilegally, as they do not own any property and are not Freeholders. Also, that some signed because of politics, that some signed because of politics, that some signed because to get drunk sometimes, and some signed so as to have a place near by where they could go on the downward path where they could go on the downward path as drunkards. Some signed because they could not say "No." I do not suppose any of them signed to have a place near by to get our Sunday-school scholars and Christian Endeavor youths made drunkards, but they could not sign for a place to get refreshments for man and beast, as Mr. Ackerman said in court last December that he dd not have more than one or two a month that required refreshments. town. The poster continues:

The man accused of posting the circulars is a stationer in Nassau-st., New-York, well known for his Prohibitionist tendencies and efforts to influence public opinion by posters.

HAVE INDICTMENTS BEEN FOUNDS

A REPORT CURRENT THAT MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL OF JERSEY CITY HAVE BEEN INDICTED.

Judge Lippincott, two weeks ago, instructed the Grand Jury to consider the presentment made by the last Grand Jury to the effect that the new City Hall, whose cost will be over half a million dolars, had been improperly built. The Grand Jury has been considering the matter for about a week and to-night it is rumored that it had found several indictments. None was handed up to-day, however, and the report cannot be verified. None of the Grand Jurors will talk of the matter, and a second rumor says that any indict-ments that were found will be reconsidered on Fri-day.

TESTING THE HOLMAN LOCOMOTIVE. Cape May, N. J., Nov. 18 (Special) .- The Holman friction-geared locomotive, which its projector, William J. Holman, of Minneapolis, says can make 110 miles an hour, will be tried to-morrow for speed on the tracks of the South Jersey Railroad from Winslow to Cape May, a distance of fifty-four miles. To-day the engine averaged seventy miles an hour, and in one spurt made four miles in three minutes.

A CLEW TO THE WAST HOBOKEN BURGLAR At a late hour last night the only clew discovered in regard to the burgiar who shot John Smith in his house in West Hoboken Sunday morning was brought in by Officer Quick, who said he had learned that two men called at the house of Joseph Temple, in Homestead, early Sunday morning. One wore no shoes, and said that he fell asieep and some one stole them. The men are said to have dis-appeared toward Rutherford. Temple is related to Officer Quick.
